Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurWhat do you do when life in sunny Southern California starts to seem plastic, materialistic and just plain hellish? For Sonia and Duke Marsh, the answer was to sell their worldly goods and move to an unspoiled, simpler life with their three sons in Belize, Central America, a third-world country without all the comforts and distractions of life in the developed world. Sonia hopes the move will bring her shattered family back together. She feels her sons slipping away from her, and her overworked husband never has time for her or the boys. Instead, things begin to go wrong immediately. The home they initially rented isn't available, so the family is forced to take up residence in a primitive, bug-infested shack.

Dukes telecommuting plans prove impractical because of unreliable Internet access, and he loses his job. Middle son Alec always a conscientious, polite, tractable child misses his friends and has trouble adjusting. As the days turn into months, Sonia finds herself questioning the family's decision to move on a nearly daily basis. This is the story of one family's search for paradise. In this memoir, Sonia chronicles a year of defeats, fears and setbacks and also the ultimate triumph of seeing once-frayed family ties grow back stronger from shared challenges and misfortunes. For Sonia, paradise turned out not to be a place, but an appreciation of life's simple pleasures a close-knit family and three well-adjusted sons with a global outlook on life. Biographie de l'auteur Sonia Marsh is a Gutsy woman who can pack her carry-on and move to another country in one day. She's an award-winning author, blogger, unconventional thinker and world traveler with a passion for tropical islands. Sonia likes to inspire people to get out of their comfort zone and take a risk. She says everyone has a My Gutsy Story; some just need a little help to uncover theirs. Her story, told in her travel memoir Freeways to Flip-Flops: A Family's Year of Gutsy Living on a Tropical Island, is about chucking it all and uprooting her family to reconnect on an island in Belize. Her memoir received the 2014 Gold Medal at the Readers Favorite Awards. Sonia has lived in many countries Denmark, Nigeria, France, England, the U.S. and Belize Sonia Marsh considers herself a citizen of the world. Sonia is embarking on her next Gutsy Adventure in 2015. Her new goal is to encourage both men and women to take action and make the second part of their life, even more exciting than the first. She is reinventing herself with new Gutsy adventures, and looks forward to sharing them with her readers. Let's connect on a global level, and share how we are finding passion in our life. Sonia Marsh
